ARS POETICA

If the existence of the human mind comprehends a subconscious area then an overconscious region must exist as well. But are we ready to confront and face up to our demons arising from the under and are we able to hear the advises coming from the above or will we just blindly sink deeper and deeper into our unconscious paralyzed by our fears, angst and selfishness? Where will our inspirations, motivations, urges and acts project to our outer world? From which scene? The music we make are mostly inspired by these questions. Our creations break out from the depth of the darkest side of the human sense. Our common path, evoked through our songs, starts from the most hopeless and futureless place - where the story of the king's youngest son starts from - hoping that we are again and again able to take a journey through our thoughts which aims from the darkness towards the light. Well, we invite you to this path. Are you ready? Will you come along with us?
